Every Moment

Prashant Agarwal
President

Every moment of the human body given by God is full of celebration and delight if we understand the true meaning of having a human life. Treating everyone with love, serving, and helping the needy fills our hearts with joy. The service rendered by rising above the feelings of selfishness ultimately makes our path obstacle-free.

An old man fell down on the road and was gravely injured. The ambulance immediately took him to the hospital. On the way, the nurse fumbled over his clothes and found a purse in his pocket. The nurse found the address of his son, who was serving in the military in the same city. A message was sent to his son from the hospital, saying that his father had been hurt and was admitted to the hospital. Within a short time, a soldier arrived at the hospital. The nurse told the old man in his ear that his son had come to meet him. The old man was in such bad shape that he was unable to communicate or see anything. When the old man extended his trembling hand to touch his son, the soldier warmly held the old man's hand and put it on his forehead. The soldier sat beside the old man all night, taking care of him. Sometimes, he would keep his head on the old man's chest as he comforted him. When the nurse asked him to rest for a while, he refused and said, "These are the moments when life can be blessed." In the morning, the old man died. After that, the soldier informed the nurse that his son had been transferred two days back. The nurse was shocked to hear his words and asked, "So he wasn't your father?"

The soldier replied, "No, but I felt that he urgently needed the company of his son, who would stay by his side, serve him, and console him, so it was my moral duty to console the old gentleman in his absence."

Friends! By receiving this moment of service, this soldier blessed his life. One should not be perceived as an outsider while serving. Wherever there is an opportunity to serve support, it should not be wasted. That is the religion of humanity.

Hon. Kailash Agrawal "Manav"

DECISION OF DISCRETION

One should keep the scope of his thinking broad. If we can use the ability & intelligence of others in some work, then we should not hesitate. Work thrives only through mutual cooperation and harmony. The combined form of determination, strength, & intelligence is the gateway to success.

Who deserves credit for success? One day, a dispute arose over this question. Determination, Strength, and Intelligence all made declarations for themselves. All three were adamant about their respective points. In the end, it was agreed that Discretion would serve as the arbitrator in this case. They came to Discretion and requested that he settle the dispute between them. Discretion departed with all three. He took a crooked iron nail in one hand and a hammer in the other. They arrived at a place where a boy was playing. Discretion said to him, "Son if you straighten this crooked nail with a hammer, I will give you a lot of sweets and toys." The boy's eyes lit up. He tried but could not straighten the nail. He did not have the Strength in his hands. This led them to the conclusion that Determination is not enough to achieve success. You also require Strength. When all four moved forward, a laborer appeared within a short distance. He was sleeping. Vivek woke him up with a jolt and said, "Straighten this nail with a hammer, & I will give you ten rupees." The laborer made some effort with drowsy eyes, but he was in a state of deep sleep, so he put the hammer aside and started snoring again. They have now come to the conclusion that even Strength by itself will not be enough. Despite having the ability, due to a lack of Determination, even the laborer could not straighten the nail. As they continued on, they encountered a carpenter who pulled out his tools & straightened the nail with Determination and using his Strength and Intelligence. Discretion said that we should go back because we now know what we wanted to know. The three of you alone are insufficient and incapable, but together you can overcome any difficulty.

Hundreds Of Differently-Abled Individuals Wearing Prostheses Saluted The Founder By Doing The World's Biggest Artificial Limb Parade

Founder's Day will be celebrated internationally

Manoj Barot, Director of Narayan SevaSansthan, USA, announced to celebrate the birthday of Kailash Ji Manav, who founded Narayan Seva Sansthan on October 23, 1985, with a handful of flour, as International Founder's Day on 2 January. While approving this, Prashant Agarwal, the organization's global president, urged society to celebrate January 2 as International Founder's Day, a day dedicated to service. On Manav Ji's birthday, 108 beneficiaries of artificial limbs from the Sansthan actively participated in a parade in his honor. As a result, each Divyang was brimming with passion and enthusiasm. Manoj Barot stated that after India's independence, the first person to think about disability was Kailash jiManav, and Kailash ji should be honored across borders as well.

Sansthan celebrated Founder's Day with philanthropic endeavors

Sincere greetings to the legendary Kailash Ji Manav on his 76th birthday.

March-past with artificial limbs

On January 2, Founder's Day was jubilantly celebrated at the Seva Mahatirth, Sansthan in the presence of a large number of philanthropists from India and abroad. Founder Padma Shri Kailash Ji Manav inaugurated a free medical assistance and artificial limb distribution camp for 251 differently-abled individuals on his 76th birthday. The inaugural International Narayan Artificial Limb Parade was also performed. The parade featured people who lost their hands and legs in accidents. The purpose of the initiative was to raise social awareness about people with disabilities. This parade will continue to be held every year in different states. At the celebration, cultural performances were presented by children from the Deaf-Mute & Destitute Orphanage & students from Gurukul, Narayan Children Academy & the Vocational Training Institute. The celebration was also addressed by Kamla Devi Ji, Vandana Agarwal, Jagdish Ji, Devendra Ji & Ms. Palak Agarwal.

From struggle to strength, an artificial limb changed everything

This is the agony of a 36-year-old man. Dinesh Nishad, from Maharajganj, Uttar Pradesh, told in his story that in 2016, after being bitten by a poisonous mosquito, a minor blister appeared on his left leg. Later, it turned into a wound. Over time, his leg began to decay, and during treatment, his left leg had to be amputated to stop the spread. He had to quit working after losing his leg. Some time passed, and he returned to work because no one else to support the family. His miserable condition worsened in the year 2021. Destiny repeated the story & a mosquito-like insect attacked him on the other leg. A week later, he experienced a burning sensation in that area. He took it to the doctor in Gorakhpur, where he was informed that it had caused gangrene on his right leg and that the leg would have to be amputated. The whole family sank into mourning, and in the end, he had to lose another leg. After that, every day was a struggle for them until they found out about the free limb distribution camp being held on October 30, 2022, by Narayan Seva Sansthan. Dinesh arrived at the camp, where his measurements were taken for prosthetic limbs. After a month in the next camp, he received artificial limbs as well as training on how to stand, walk, & run with them. He also praised Sansthan for its humanitarian work for Divyangs. He added that he had been unable to stand or walk for nine years but is now back on his feet & cannot express his gratitude to Sansthan enough.

After losing both legs, life left him so helpless that thinking of meeting someone or heading somewhere made him sob in anguish.

Couldn't get up for the last nine years, but now stands with the help of artificial legs, walks, and works comfortably.

Hyderabad Seva Kendra will benefit the differently-abled and the afflicted

A wide range of free services will be provided to the marginalized, differently - abled, and underprivileged of society at the Hyderabad Seva Kendra managed by Sansthan. Along with training courses in physiotherapy, computer, mobile, and tailoring, quality artificial limbs will be given to the differently abled who have lost their hands and legs in accidents. The well - trained orthotist and prosthetist team of the organization will prove effective in making the differently abled and the destitute self - reliant. Those who were called a burden on the family will become the ones who provide for their families and will lead dignified lives.

It has always been our endeavor to alleviate the suffering of as many less fortunate and differently-abled individuals as possible. With this vision in mind, the organization is preparing to run a Seva Kendra in Hyderabad. With this establishment, Divyangs will be able to get services in their hometown itself instead of coming to Udaipur.

Kailash Manav, Founder

With new energy, enthusiasm, and consciousness, the organization is all set to unveil the first ultra-modern Seva Kendra in Hyderabad on January 29. This will benefit hundreds of differently-abled people every day. We shall now make an effort to establish SevaKendras in 100 locations across the country, similar to Hyderabad. Our resolution will definitely be fulfilled because many service-minded personalities in society have made up their minds to engage in humanitarian work with devotion.

And take maximum advantage of the efforts of Narayan SevaSansthan in this direction. Former Minister Dr. Mangilal Garasia said that service and values are India's own identity. JhiniJhini Roshni-45

The life of the founder-chairman of Narayan Seva Sansthan, Pujya Gurudev Shri Kailash ji 'Manav', nurtured by the values of service, is exemplary for society. Senior journalist Shri Suresh Goyal, who was close to Shri Kailash ji, has presented his biography in the book 'Jhini-JhiniRoshni'.

Kailash told, I go to the hospital which is in front, and I try to fulfill the minor needs of the patients, you also come with me, it will be great. The other colleagues in the office laughed at Kailash's words and said which miser are you taking along. He is not able to spend even a single rupee from his pocket in his office transfer party, what will he do?

Kailash overhears his friend's talk and took him with him. This companion of Kailash often accompanied him to the hospital. Gradually he changed so much that he started going to the hospital alone without Kailash. If a patient needed khichdi, he would get khichdi made from his own home and fed him. Even brought a blanket to a patient and covered him. Everyone was surprised to see such a change in the one whom everyone used to tease as stingy. The result of this was that slowly other people also started taking interest in this service work.

Kailash was very happy seeing all this. Now he has also started keeping some books from Geeta Press Gorakhpur in his bag. Thin instructional books used to come at very low prices. Kailash bought 10-12 at once and kept them in his bag. He used to give these books to patients to read and if they read them, he would take them back and give them to someone else. Once an old man was given a book, he told his helplessness and said that he is illiterate, he does not know how to read. Kailash took out another book from his bag and gave it to the old man. Sita Ram, Sita Ram was written in this entire book. Along with this, Kailash also gave him a pencil and explained to him that Sita-Ram is written in the whole book. Keeping this pencil on every word, you keep saying Sita Ram, in this way you will read the whole book. The next day when Kailash went back to that old man he was looking very happy. Seeing Kailash with great enthusiasm, he told that despite being illiterate, he enjoyed reading the book so much that he kept saying Sita-Ram, Sita-Ram while reading the book till two in the night. Seeing the enthusiasm of the old man, Kailash suddenly remembered an incident from his childhood. Continued...
